

Have your say on how we remember our rail bridge

Who is ARTC?

Australian Rail Track Corporation (ARTC) manages the seamless delivery of hundreds of freight and passenger trains across our network every day. We value safety, wellbeing and actively engage with our community.

At ARTC, our people play an important role in maintaining high standards of rail track conditions to allow safer, more reliable, and efficient operations.

What has happened so far?

ARTC and our specialist consultants have identified track safety and reliability issues as the Narromine Pedestrian Overbridge has passed its structural design life.

Also, the presence of the bridge is preventing critical track maintenance, as well as preventing an upgrade of the nearby pedestrian crossing.

Cultural Heritage

In recognising the historical significance of this bridge, and as part of our ongoing commitment to preserving our rail heritage, ARTC has identified an opportunity to relocate and restore the bridge to be a part of the Richmond Vale Rail working museum in the Hunter Valley.

Have your say

We are keen to hear from you on how the bridge could be showcased at the museum, and as a permanent reminder at Narromine, to ensure the bridge continues to serve the local community. Suggestions include an information board, a memorial plaque as well as archival recording.

It is important to us that we can provide you with more information on this project and we understand what the bridge means to you.

How can you be involved?

You are invited to drop into our informal community information and feedback session from 2pm Monday 15 November 2021 at Narromine United Services Memorial Club 58 Dandaloo St, Narromine.

At this event you will be able to talk directly to members of the project team and provide us with your valuable feedback.

For more information about this important project, to provide feedback or ask any questions please contact Ozark, our engagement consultant.
